

Here is a detailed and comprehensive list of mandatory compliance requirements that an application's privacy policy must address under the Pakistan Data Protection Law (PDPL):

- Data Collection Practices: Clearly outline the types of personal data collected, the purpose of collection, and the methods used to collect data.
- User Consent Mechanisms: Implement and document mechanisms to obtain explicit consent from users before collecting or processing their personal data.
- User Rights:
 - Access: Provide users with the right to access their personal data held by the organization.
 - Correction: Allow users to request corrections to their personal data if it is inaccurate or incomplete.
 - Erasure: Facilitate the right for users to request the deletion of their personal data under certain conditions.
- Data Sharing with Third Parties: Clearly state the circumstances under which personal data may be shared with third parties, including the types of third parties and the purpose of sharing.
- Data Retention and Deletion Policies: Define the duration for which personal data will be retained and the procedures for securely deleting data once it is no longer needed.
- Data Security Measures: Implement appropriate technical and organizational measures to protect personal data against unauthorized access, loss, or damage.
- International Data Transfers: Ensure that any transfer of personal data outside the jurisdiction complies with PDPL requirements, including obtaining necessary consents and ensuring adequate protection measures are in place.

- Policy Updates and User Notification: Regularly update the privacy policy to reflect changes in data processing practices or legal requirements and notify users of significant changes.
- Adherence to Specific Terms: Ensure that the privacy policy adheres to specific terms and definitions as outlined in the PDPL, providing clarity and consistency in the language used.

These requirements are designed to ensure that privacy policies are comprehensive, transparent, and aligned with the PDPL, thereby safeguarding personal data and respecting user rights.
